Indianapolis, Indiana

Monday, March 1, 2010
12:30 pm - 1:30 pm
CEC C1.112

Objectives:

- Define blood management and the goal of blood management programs
- Describe the "storage lesion" for blood products and relate that to clinical outcomes
- List the current major risks of blood transfusions
- Construct a risk-benefit strategy to balance anemia risks vs transfusion risks

through

The teaching strategy will be didactic in the form of a PowerPoint presentation, followed by a question and answer period.
