

Reference Form Training Material:

The Reference Form is a diagnosis code crosswalk from ICD-9 to ICD-10 codes to assist physicians and clinic personnel in selecting ICD-10 codes. The tool only is to be used as a reference tool, it is not comprehensive and only contains the most common diagnoses per clinic. Please refer to the ICD-10 coding manual and/or an online reference tool for additional ICD-10 codes.

BLOOD & BLOOD FORMING

ICD-9 CM Code		ICD-10 CM Code
287.0	Allergic purpura	D69.0	Allergic purpura
287.2	Nonthrombocytopenic purpuras, other	D69.2	Other nonthrombocytopenic purpura

Starting October 1st, enter code and description from the ICD-10 column only.

The Reference Form is alphabetized by description per body system. In many cases, there is a one-to-one relation from ICD-9 code to ICD-10; however, in most cases a one-to-many relation exists. Select and assign the most appropriate ICD-10 code that best describes the diagnosis and include in the superbill (charge sheet) form for the clinic.

427.89	Cardiac dysrhythmias, other specified	I49.8	Other specified cardiac arrhythmias
		R00.1	Bradycardia, unspecified
429.3	Cardiomegaly	I51.7	Cardiomegaly

White field indicates a one-to-many relation

Blue field indicates a one-to-one relation

In some cases the complete ICD-10 code requires a fifth, sixth or seventh digit. This is noted in the ICD-10 column with a parenthesis for the missing digit and a text box legend with the appropriate meanings to each character.

MUSCULOSKELETAL

ICD-9 CM Code		ICD-10 CM Code
5th Character meanings for codes as indicated: 0 Organ involvement unspecified 2 With myopathy 1 With respiratory involvement 3 With other organ involvement
710.3	Dermatomyositis	M33.0[]	Juvenile dermatomyositis
		M33.1[]	Other dermatomyositis
		M33.9[]	Dermatopolyomyositis, unspec.
		M36.0	Dermato(poly)myositis in neoplastic disease

Must select the correct 5th character from the textbox legend to complete the code assignment.

All form updates must go through the clinic managers, they are the form owners and will make any necessary updates.